

The Dean, Faculty of Social Sciences to present the following for the Conferment of the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy (Social Sciences)

LUBANGA Rosalind Grace Namiro (Ms)

Lubanga investigated why Uganda was unlikely to reduce under-five mortality to two-thirds by 2015. She assessed policy adequacy, implementation levels and community organisation. She found that disease control policy had limited capacity to guide the control of the most common causes of illness and deaths. Implementation challenges remained largely unaddressed and communities and institutions were minimally organised for disease control. She provides framework for the design of an adequate policy for disease control. Professor Edward Kirumira, Staffan Hojer and Dr George Pariyo supervised this work; while Makerere University, the Rockefeller Foundation and SIDA SAREC provided the funding.

MADANDA Aramanzan

Madanda examined gender relations and adoption of computers and mobile telephones in contemporary Uganda. He found that although patriarchy is harnessing technology to reinvent itself, there is an ongoing transformation process in gender relations and women's empowerment. The thesis links the use of mobile telephones and escalation of gender based violence. It recommends ICT policy revision, focus on education and agriculture, reforming the workplace and making social responsibility by telecoms gender aware. Supervisors were: Prof. Grace Bantebya-Kyomuhendo, Dr. Margareta Esppling and Dr. Consolata Kabonesa. Funding provided by Sida and Carnegie Corporation.

The Dean, Faculty of Computing and Information Technology to present the following for the Conferment of the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy (Computer Science)

MUHIRWE Jackson

Muhirwe, developed computational solutions to problems in Kinyarwanda morphology. Among the solutions he developed, is computerised approach to enriching text with tone marks and long vowels. These solutions form the foundation for developing spell checkers, grammar checkers, and information retrieval systems for Kinyarwanda and other Bantu languages. This research was supervised by Prof. Arvi Hurskainen and Prof Venansius Baryamureeba.

MUYINDA Paul Birevu

Muyinda, investigated the need to extend learning on mobile phones in phenomenon called m-learning. In this PhD, framework for underpinning the development of pedagogic applications for deploying and utilising learning objects on mobile phones is developed. The PhD adds value to the education and mobile telecommunication sectors. It won an award as the best graduate research project of the year in the 2010 UCC Annual Communications and Innovations Award. The study was supervised by Dr. Jude Lubega, Makerere University, Assoc. Prof. Kathy Lynch, University of Sunshine Coast, Australia and Prof. Theo Van Der Weide, Radboud University, Netherlands. Financial support was provided by Makerere University, SIDA/SAREC and NUFFIC.
