

Leonard Cheshire Disability Cross-Cutting Disability Research Programme Research Internship Call for expression of interest

Are you currently a university student or recent graduate in international development, social sciences, community development or an equivalent subject?

Do you have knowledge of or an interest in disability issues?

Are you interested in undertaking your own research project exploring disability and development issues?

If the answer is yes to all the above, this Research Internship Programme may be of interest to you.

The Leonard Cheshire Disability & Inclusive Development Centre is an academic research centre based at University College London (United Kingdom). We are currently looking for university undergraduates and graduates to undertake their own short research project (up to 12 weeks) in collaboration with a disabled person's organisation in their home country.

For further information and to request an expression of interest form please send an email by Friday 17th August to Eleanor Challenger: e.challenger@ucl.ac.uk