

WORLD SERVICE

The BBC's International Radio Station

Last updated: 17 february, 2011 - 17:13 GMT

- Send to a friend

Uganda elections: Final rallies

Media Player

To play this content JavaScript must be turned on and the latest Flash player installed.

Latest Flash player available here

Play in either Real OR Windows Media players

It is against a backdrop of revolution in north Africa that Ugandans go to the polls tomorrow.

The three main presidential candidates have run colourful campaigns.

Kizza Besigye ended his campaign at Makerere University while President Museveni held a mass rally in the capital Kampala and northern favourite, Norbert Mao was with supporters in Awach near Gulu.

- Send to a friend

Bookmark with:

What are these?

- Delicious
- Digg
- reddit
- Facebook
- StumbleUpon

Related BBC Links

•

Africa news programmes

News and analysis from around the continent.

Africa Today

Daily news and analysis from the BBC's Focus on Africa and Network Africa.

Profile: Uganda's presidential contenders

Uganda country profile

•

The voters

Presidential candidates hold final rallies ahead of Friday's elections

Duration: 05:56

Are voters in Buganda still loyal to President Museveni?

Duration: 04:09

The youth vote

Duration: 03:56

Related Internet Links

Ugandan government

Norbert Mao