A state of art learning center is to be constructed at Makerere University to provide hands on training for handling infectious diseases.

The university's medical students have for long been using Mulago hospital to acquire training and conduct research on infectious diseases.

The Executive Director of the Infectious Diseases Institute Dr. Alex Coutinho says the building worth 6million US dollars is to provide ample space for students to learn more about infectious diseases.

Dr Coutinho adds that modern health care equipment will also be provided to enable the students to conduct effective research:
