MUK scored 1153 points, UCU 989, Nkumba University 968, IUIU 878, KIU 796 and Cavendish University 660 points.

James Muhindo from Makerere University said they have gained exposure to exactly what the law provides in regard to cases of law.

"As upcoming Advocates, you represent the future of the development and implementation of IHL in the Country and in region, It is imperative therefore that for a such as these not be viewed only as a contest but as a good opportunity to gather as much information as possible and to build networks that will benefit this cause," Olowo-AKE said.

"When the International criminal court came in, it had certain laws pertaining with money laundering and abuse of international rights, these laws had not been taught in our universities, but now these students who are in universities must learn these laws otherwise if they don't then their future is brick," Bireije said.
