College of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Principal, College of Humanities and Social Sciences to present the following for the Conferment of the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy

GIDUDI Tom

Conferment of the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy

KOMAKECH Daniel

“Beyond Classical Western Governance and Homo Sacer: The Relevance of Afrikology”

Mr. Komakech examined the logic of classical Western politic-philosophical emphasis on structures and institutions as superior and objective spaces and preferred modes of governance and, how this regime and its logic has displaced and trivialised human agency. It is this deception that has; using the theoretical frame of Giorgio Agamben’s Homo Sacer: Sovereign Power and Bare Life and, Jean and John L. Comaroff’s Law and Disorder in the Post-colony, has also in addition reconstructed the human person into a homo sacer, a dehumanising process of a human person.

Using critical theory and hermeneutics, the thesis located the space of the dehumanisation process in the dominant subjectivity of the classical Western Political metaphysics and epistemology of governance. To transgress this and reconstruct a reversal, Afrikology and its universe of heart, word and tongue was established. Case studying Afrikological frame of Acholi governance, corrective frame of governance that reinforces human agency, was clarified and established.

“Community Participation in decision making on access to Forest resources under Collaborative forest Management framework in BWINDI (BINP): A Gender perspective”

Mr. Mugisa Julius researched on how Bwindi forest edge men and women participate in decision making on access to forest resources under Collaborative forest management framework. Qualitative and quantitative methods were appropriately used putting emphasis on gender to examine men and women’s participation in decision making on access to forest resources under Collaborative forest management. He found out that although both men and women participated in decision making on access to forest resources under Collaborative forest management men had more opportunities to make decisions due to their numeric strengths and abilities to voice their interests during meetings than women. The study was supervised by: Dr. May Sengendo, Assoc. Prof. Shuaib Lwasa, and Assoc. Prof. Gorettie N. Nabanoga
