

Output of the event

The Go Green Week has directly empowered over 300 students through several activities that have been running in their halls of residence for the 5 days and indirectly about 3650 people on our social media platforms. The 300 students have been motivated to come up with, and own practical resolutions to ensure a greener Makerere.

Way Forward

We are going to collaborate with different students' associations, university colleges and university departments to create, improve and deliver different sustainability actions/ climate change actions. We will also reach out to different national & International partners to collaborate in order to support this wonderful initiative. We will continue to work with sustainability –Lab at Bangor University and the Bangor Students Union to share lessons and implement joint actions.

Some of the activities we hope to engage in include working with the estates department and college of natural sciences/university botanical garden to develop the biodiversity Action Plan for the University. We intend to work with the students and the university to implement the waste management and energy efficiency practices in halls of residences and throughout the university.

Students being major stakeholders of this university and representatives of almost every part of this country, will be involved in the planning, design and implementation of the green actions in the university. Many of their ideas about what they would like to see have been shared through this event, and these are going to form a basis of climate change actions we hope to implement.

The journey is long and not easy but we are very grateful to Makerere University and our partners for all the support they have given to ensure the success of this event.

Great thanks to the students for their participation, and special thank you to the students Sustainability Action Group, the team leader Emmanuel Ahumuza, the Sustainability Program-Student Coordinator JessyMusaazi and all the students that have worked hard to make this a success.

Thank you to all our partners, - Bangor University, the sustainability Lab –a Bangor university department responsible for sustainability, the Bangor University Students Union and Hub Cymru Africa which is a Welsh government funded organisation supporting development projects between Welsh government organisations and African organisations.
