WOMEN EMPOWERING WOMEN

HERS-EA SIXTH ACADEMY
JULY 3 - JULY 7, 2023

THEME: “‘AND STILL I RISE’: ENABLING YOU TO RISE ABOVE AND BEYOND INSTITUTIONAL AND PERSONAL BARRIERS TO WOMEN LEADERSHIP.”

OVERVIEW :

Higher Education Resource Services, East Africa (HERS-EA) ACADEMY provides an intensive leadership and management development curriculum which equips women with skills needed to advance their personal career development and successfully navigate the institutional environment where they operate. The goal of the HERS-EA training is to raise the proportion of women in leadership and management positions in Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) in Eastern Africa (Burundi, Ethiopia, Kenya, Rwanda, South Sudan, Rwanda, and Uganda - Figure 1).

The program is focused on managing and leading change, human resource development and institutional effectiveness. The ACADEMY prepares every participant to strengthen and expand her leadership skills by working closely with HERS-EA resource persons and staff. Participants will find the ACADEMY to be a safe environment to share confidential matters.

Following five previous successful Academies, the Sixth HERS-EA ACADEMY will be offered in a one-week blended (virtual and in-person) format (July 3rd-7th 2023), we hope you can be part of the success story.

BACKGROUND TO HERS-EA ACADEMY:

Higher Education Resource Services, Eastern Africa (HERS-EA), is an affiliate of HERS, established in the USA in 1972. The curriculum incorporates elements of the signature HERS curriculum but has been adapted and enhanced by the directors of HERS-EA as appropriate, for the goals and needs of women in East Africa.

HERS-EA ACADEMY is one of the most compelling leadership development opportunities for women in higher education. The curriculum covers Personal Development, Institutional Awareness and provides great Networking opportunities. All participants have a chance to shape the ACADEMY to meet their unique personal career plans and professional development needs. We strongly recommend that you read the Fifth Academy Report [available for download, on the HERS-EA website].

1. Who should attend?

HERS-EA welcomes aspiring dynamic leaders from diverse backgrounds to attend the ACADEMY, to share and learn from multiple institutional perspectives. There will be guidance from women with a wealth of experience in higher education, national academic organizations, government and non-governmental organizations. Participants are expected to hold mid to senior-level positions and bring expertise from all parts of a college or university. They also represent a range of national groups, ages and years of experience in higher education and other fields.

Sample Leadership project concepts

1. I would like to work with others to initiate a support group and office where students and staff, survivors of Gender Based Violence, can obtain psychosocial support and guidance that is needed for redress or medical attention.

2. The project will focus on promoting water and sanitation facilities for menstruation management at (XX University campus), an institution that relates to a long-standing commitment to teacher education provision and is of high importance for future development of mainstreaming gender, water, and sanitation facilities for menstruation management at the University and its affiliated Institutions (AIs) (Primary and National Teachers' Colleges).

3. The aim of this project is to develop strategies to increase the number of female staff at XX University accessing and completing doctoral and post-doctoral fellowship opportunities. This objective will be achieved through the following activities

4. There is a gender digital divide in Uganda which is worrying and exacerbating existing socioeconomic gaps between men and women (Abima et al., 2021). Therefore, the study specific objectives are : (1) Assess the trend of application of digital technologies supporting education, research and learning process among female academicians; (2) Identify the socio-culture, personal and institutional practices barriers and skills competencies affecting digital adoption among these women and; (3) Effect of provision of a facilitating environment to workplace performance and skills development and achievement of women in academic institutions via digital adoption.

5. According to the labour laws of the country, a pregnant female employee is entitled to only 60 working fully paid days as maternity leave. The leave can be broken down into before and after baby delivery, out of which only 4 weeks are mandatory after new birth. Besides, there are no provisions in the institutions of higher learning such as remedial teaching to cater for breastfeeding female students during their stay at the institutions. The general objective is: Enhanced work performance through improved environment for breastfeeding at institution of higher learning.

6. The revised "guidelines for the prevention and management of Teenage Pregnancy in School settings in Uganda" was drafted in 2020, as an intervention to forestall the upsurge in teenage pregnancies. The implementation of the guidelines has not yet been systematically monitored. This proposed study, therefore, is deemed critical to provide a leading insight into the status of re-entry of pregnant and teen mothers and how the affected girls and schools are coping with this new directive.
